32. Make notes for the following passage

- Sustainable energy is energy that meets the needs of the present generations without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. Sustainable energy is about finding clean, renewable sources of energy—sources that renew themselves, rather than sources that can be depleted. Sustainable energy is energy that we will never use up or deplete. It is inexhaustible. Several forms of energy can be considered sustainable. In addition to the most commonly considered sources—wind, solar, and water—there's also bioenergy and geothermal energy. Bioenergy is the process of creating energy from biological masses such as straw, manure and other agricultural byproducts. Geothermal energy is energy from Earth's internal energy sources, like geysers. *
